GO P Rights Bill Shelved 'Rebels Seize Power In Laos Capital'

Coup Staged By Neutralist Army Group

Pro-West Regime
Reported Cut Off
100 Miles To North

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—An army group seized military and civil power in Vientiane, capital of Laos, asked all foreign soldiers to leave, and proclaimed a neutral foreign policy for the kingdom Tuesday.

Reported cut off 100 miles to the north in Luang Prabang was pro-Western Premier Tiao Samouth and his government of this tiny country that has lived largely on the bounty of the United States.

While the extent of the coup was in doubt, diplomatic advices left no doubt that the rebels were in firm control of Vientiane, the administrative capital, as distinct from Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

The diplomatic reports said Vientiane was functioning normally except for military road blocks. The rebels staged their coup d'état in the early morning darkness with a burst of gunfire that killed two persons.

Col. Sounthone Pathammavong, commander-in-chief of the U.S.- and French-trained armed forces, reportedly was wounded by bazooka fire. But diplomatic reports did not say whether his wounds were fatal.

A committee of the revolutionaries said Laos will seek "friendly relations and a good neighbor policy with all countries who are so disposed . . . and will receive economic assistance from all countries without any reservation."

The mention of foreign soldiers was directed at a small party of French and U.S. military advisers training the 30,000-man Laotian army to resist Communist Pathet Lao rebels inside the tiny Buddhist nation.

U.S. military advisers total 24. There are 753 Americans in Laos—economic as well as military aid group members, embassy personnel, dependents and private citizens. The U.S. State Department said 261 of them are connected with the military aid program.

Rebel broadcasts from Vientiane urged Americans and other foreigners to remain calm and to go about their work. A communiqué said all foreign property would be respected.

Government officials were told to remain at their jobs and obey the revolutionary committee or face severe punishment.

A curfew from 7 p.m. to 8 a.m. was ordered in Vientiane.

The committee said that in foreign policy, the rebel regime will "respect the pact of the U.N. and neutrality"—a reference to Laos' proclamation of neutrality on a visit last year by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. He had sent a fact-finding team here after the Pathet Lao guerrillas provoked a crisis.

U.N. Disarm Group Will Meet Tuesday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations announced Tuesday night that the 82-nation disarmament commission would meet next Tuesday.

Chairman Luis Padillo Nervo of Mexico summoned the committee to meet at 3 p.m. Aug. 16 at the request of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

The commission was convened over the objections of the Soviet Union which had requested that disarmament be debated by the heads of state at the General Assembly starting Sept. 20.

Plot Smashed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Government sources said Tuesday President Rómulo Betancourt had squelched a terrorist plot which had the overthrow of the government as a long-term objective.

Prelate Threatens To Close All Cuban Catholic Churches

Safety, Freedom Guarantees Demanded

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's highest active Roman Catholic authority declared Tuesday he will close all Catholic churches on the island unless the Castro regime averts anti-church demonstrations and guarantees freedom of worship.

He said the church would operate "in silence" — as it does in some places behind the Communist iron curtain.

The warning was angrily issued by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Evelio Diaz, archbishop, coadjutor of Havana. It came shortly after the top ranking priest in Castro's army had intervened to stop an impending clash between churchgoers and a gang of jarring youths outside Havana Cathedral.

The Rev. Eligio Sardinas, chaplain of the revolutionary army, sent most of the churchgoers and demonstrators home before any serious injuries could be inflicted.

A church source said Msgr. Diaz told government officials:

"If there are no guarantees of safety for churchgoers, all churches will be closed tomorrow morning and the church will be declared in silence so that the whole world will know what is happening in Cuba."

Msgr. Diaz' warning — which brought no immediate official response — pointed up the seriousness of a growing church-government dispute centering on the leftward march of the Fidel Castro regime.

The island's Roman Catholic hierarchy warned in a pastoral letter that would exempt the networks from giving minor candidates equal time in read in churches last Sunday.

Kennedy-Nixon Debates Reach Planning Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy met with executives of four networks Tuesday and agreed to work out a schedule of live debates between the presidential rivals.

The statement said the scheduling of the programs was contingent upon the House of Representatives' approving a measure that would exempt the networks from giving minor candidates equal time.

The reason for not using the $621,302,000 Congress made available in addition to administration requests, is that this money was earmarked for specific items, Pentagon budget officials told newsmen. And, they explained, the administration is not yet ready to spend money on these items at the moment.

Johnson, sharply critical, questioned what the administration would do with additional funds in view of the fact it had impounded this $621 million dollars, or what additional funds would be spent, if any, should Congress vote.

He made his statements in the light of President Eisenhower's message to Congress Monday calling for new military preparedness actions.

The Defense Department estimated these moves would cost nearly one-half billion dollars more.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, however, won unanimous agreement for action on the controversial treaty on Wednesday.

Congo Premier Threatens War Over Province

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga's rebellious government agreed conditionally Tuesday to admit the U.N. soldiers it once barred with a threat of war. But Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba threatened to invade Katanga province with his own and other African soldiers.

The tentative capitulation to the U.N. was announced by provincial Premier Moïse Tshombe at his capital, Elisabethville. He listed nine conditions, primarily aimed at seeing that Lumumba's central government is not given a hand in Katanga affairs.

The break came on a day which saw:

1. A U.N. Security Council order for immediate replacement of Belgian soldiers in the rich, independence-minded province with units from the U.N. forces of Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn. Belgium Will Comply

2. A Belgian assent to the order, with qualification as to the time of the Belgian withdrawal. A Brussels official said Belgium intends to comply fully, but the withdrawal will come only as the safety of Belgian civilians is assured.

3. A declaration by Lumumba's government of a state of emergency—a modified form of martial law. Though U.N. soldiers are on the job in five of the Congo's six provinces, Lumumba called the fledgling, once-mutinous Congolese army back to regular duty and gave it "all power . . . to restore order." He said, "The army will arrest anybody, black or white, who disturbs order in the Congo."

Belgian Envoy Departs

4. Final lowering of Belgium's red, yellow and black flag over the Belgian embassy in Leopoldville. This signaled the departure to Congolese jeers—Belgian Ambassador Jean Van den Bosch, whom Lumumba's government had denounced as an unwanted meddler in Congolese affairs.

Tshombe said, before entering a cabinet meeting at Elisabethville Tuesday, that he is still opposed to U.N. intervention. Doubts of the premier were reflected in his conditions. Among them, as outlined at a news conference, were:

"That none of the U.N. troops come from Communist or Communist-influenced countries . . .

"That all rights and internal affairs of Katanga be recognized and that the United Nations do not intervene in any way . . .

"That Katanga holds the right to prohibit the entry into Katanga of any person or body from the Congo government of Premier Patrice Lumumba . . ."

Defense Funds Remain Unused

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Department officials Tuesday confirmed Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's estimate that $21 million dollars Congress voted for defense still is frozen and unused.

Still, they said, it may be necessary to ask the next Congress and the new administration for more money to meet record peacetime military spending, estimated this year to reach at least $41 billion.

The 4,000-word indictment was drawn up by the State Security Committee and approved July 9 by Roman Rudenko, prosecutor general of the U.S.S.R. He was the chief Soviet prosecutor at the postwar Nuremberg war crimes summit meeting in Paris May 16 before it could get started.

A public show trial seemed to be in prospect. The great hall of columns, not far from the Kremlin, was being polished up for the trial, although no formal announcement has been made as yet.

Reports in Moscow are that the trial will be conducted with simultaneous translations into five languages for the benefit of the world press.

The 4,000-word indictment was drawn up by the State Security Committee and approved July 9 by Roman Rudenko, prosecutor general of the U.S.S.R. He was the chief Soviet prosecutor at the postwar Nuremberg war crimes trials of Nazi leaders.

The indictment accuses the Pound, Va., flier of violating the Soviet law "on criminal responsibility for state crimes."

The penalty under this law can be anything from seven years imprisonment to death by shooting.

Soviet authorities have refused U.S. diplomatic officials permission to talk to Powers or to permit an American lawyer to defend him. They have granted visas to his parents, however, to attend the trial.

Air Force Fires Atlas Missile Over 7,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force demonstrated the range versatility and accuracy of its Atlas missile, firing one of its giant rockets more than 7,000 miles into Atlantic waters off the coast of South Africa Tuesday.

The blazing 40-minute flight carried the Atlas to a point about 1,200 miles southeast of Britain-owned St. Helena Island and about 200 miles west of the South African mainland.

Earlier, the National Space Agency postponed until Wednesday an attempt to launch into orbit a 100-foot balloon communications satellite. Technical problems with the Thor-Delta carrier rocket delayed the effort.

Tawes Terms Highway Safety Big Challenge

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Gov. Tawes, deplored the death and injury rate in automobile accidents, singled out highway accident prevention Tuesday as "one of the major challenges of our times."

The governor, addressing the second Maryland Youth Traffic Safety Conference, said "the automobile has become a greater menace to the safety of Americans than disease."

Tawes said the auto, as a killer, is "exceeded only by heart attacks and cancer. More have died on our highways than on our nation's battlefields."

The governor assured his listeners that their state government is aware of its responsibility in this area.

"We are building and will continue to build, better highways," he said. "We have increased the personnel of our State Police... We have enacted new legislation and attempted to step up enforcement of laws already on our statute books."

The governor told his youthful audience that he did not subscribe to "the old myth that boys and girls of your age are responsible for disproportionate share of highway accidents."

He said that the record shows that the greatest number of accidents are caused by people 24 years of age and upward.

Youths Paddling From N.Y. To Fla.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Two plucky New York City youngsters pulled up to pier 12 at the Norfolk Naval Base Tuesday to seek help with a navigational problem.

They asked directions to the inland waterway for their southward journey by kayak to Miami.

Steve Klinger and Philip Zuckerman reached Norfolk after paddling down abandoned inland water routes through New Jersey and Maryland, into the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay to Norfolk.

The boys camp ashore at night. They arranged for rations by having their families mail food packages to them at pre-arranged stops. The next one is due to be awaiting them at Morehead City, N.C.

Expecting to arrive in Miami late this month, they plan to sell or give away the two kayaks, and hitchhike back to their New York homes in time for opening of school Sept. 10.

Maryland GOP Planning Voter Sign-Up Drive

BALTIMORE (AP)—Leading Maryland Republicans made plans Tuesday for getting the state's unregistered voters to the polls and expressed belief most of them will favor the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

The topic of getting non-voters to register dominated a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican State Central Committee at a Baltimore hotel.

The same theme has already been stressed by the Democrats who discussed a sign-up drive on unregistered voters at a recent meeting in Philadelphia covering Maryland and neighboring states.

Edward T. Miller, Republican national committeeman for Maryland and a candidate for Congress in the 1st District, summed up the spirit of the discussion at Tuesday's meeting.

Miller said the registration idea is "old shoe" but "we have a way of forgetting about its importance." He estimated 75 per cent of the unregistered voters would vote Republican if someone got them to register.

He said a special effort is being made on the Eastern Shore to get out these votes. He called it "a crusade kind of a drive."

Other district chairmen reported what is being done in their areas, including a check of registration lists and a follow-up by personal contact through friends and neighbors.

The committee also heard from Robert Perkins of Riviera Beach Md., representing a new Maryland group, the Nixon Volunteers. Perkins explained the group's purpose to the committee and said it is composed mostly of Democrats and independents.

Red Trick Costs Emigres Building

BERLIN (AP)—Somebody ordered that a warehouse belonging to NTS, an organization of anti-Communist Soviet emigres, be demolished. The stone building covered 100 square yards. Nothing now remains but the foundations.

Police suspect a Communist counterintelligence organization pulled the trick.

An unknown man ordered a demolition firm to tear down the warehouse and dispose of the rubble, saying he wanted to build on the site. He paid a deposit and gave the address of NTS as the place to send the final bill.

It was only when this bill arrived that NTS discovered its warehouse was gone.

Question Of What Is Bona Fide County Road Aired

The question of what is a bona fide property owners on Stewart informed the residents along the fide county road came up again. Road, on Polish Mountain east of road that rights-of-way would yesterday at the meeting of the Cumberland, appeared before the board to seek county work on the cost of laying a chert base. Cost would be approximately $4,000.

F. V. Smith and Dwight Spen- Last week the commissioners

Smith and Spencer said the roadway is a county road, having been used for at least 60 years. They contend the county should maintain and repair the road the same as others.

John J. Rowan, president of the board, said the roadway is not listed as one of the bona fide county thoroughfares.

The history of the county roads system was then outlined to the two men by Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board. He said that for some years the county commissioners acted as a board of road directors. Then, the state took over all county roads.

This situation prevailed until about 1943, according to James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board. Then the state returned the road jurisdiction to the county. Gasoline tax monies were allocated to the county for the repair and construction of roads. The amount was about $300 per mile.

Clark told the two men that if they could provide evidence the roadway is actually a bona fide county road for which gasoline tax money is received, then the county could maintain it like the other roadways.

Each year the county arranges with property owners on certain roads, particularly new subdivisions where homes have been erected, to give the county rights-of-way and then constructs the roadway to certain specifications. These roadways are then submitted to the State Roads Commission for inclusion in the county system.

Mosquito Check
Made On Canal

Edwin M. Dale, superintendent of the C&O Canal, has written John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that a check of the canal between Cumberland and Oldtown has not revealed any mosquito larvae in the water.

James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, had written Mr. Dale at the request of County Commissioner John T. Mason.

He had received some complaints that mosquitoes and bugs were creating a nuisance in certain areas, particularly at Oldtown.

Mr. Dale said the results of a survey did not support the contention since there was an absence of any large amount of mosquito larvae in the water.

The largest known forest fire was the one which swept over three million acres and caused the loss of 160 lives in Maine and New Brunswick in 1825.

band says the house is half his he is right. This means, of course that it's half yours as well and you should not be overridden.

Your objections are perfectly valid. If your husband continues to ignore them tell him you're going to work half days from now on so you can be at home in the afternoon to receive his guests.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm an old fogey who is all hot and bothered by the letter signed "In The Middle."

This unhappy mother wrote to ask what to do about her husband who insisted on giving their 15-year-old son $10 a week allowance to spend on hot dogs, soft drinks and foolishness. All of this nonsense is going on when the family is having a tough time paying bills!

This mother deserves a lot of sympathy and many prayers because I'm afraid the young whipper-snapper will soon decide the drinks are too soft and $10 a week isn't enough.

Just because this dad had it rough when he was a boy is no excuse to make a hoodlum out of his son. Too bad the kids today will never know the fun of saving for weeks to get 15¢ together to spend at a county fair. — OLD FOGEY

Lower Rates For Insurance Endorsed Here

John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, has term hospitals endorsed a proposal to provide lower Blue Cross rates to subscribers living in county areas.

Moberly, in a letter to F. Douglass Sears, insurance commissioner of the State of Maryland, urged that a study of the proposal be conducted by the commissioner.

The lower rate proposal was suggested recently by Delegate R. P. Cannon of Wicomico County.

Moberly said he cannot see why county subscribers should pay the same rate for hospitalization as Baltimore City subscribers.

Moberly said a report from R. H. Dabney, director of the Maryland Hospital Service Inc., shows that the weighted average per

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Reports that will be made after Zugsmith completes his chores on "Dondi." Kirk Douglas and Rock Hudson were at the point of gun on "Day of the Gun" in Mexico were exaggerated—or else not at all.

Everything is coming up sorosy that Kirk and Rock will co-star in another picture, "Montezuma," which, incidentally, will be produced by the team making "Day of the Gun," Ed Lewis and Eugene Frenke.

With Oriental beauties bounding to success both on Broadway and in movies and becoming more Occidental in dress and outlook, it's interesting to hear of one who

Director Huston is his work cut out for him before starting a new project. Director Huston has his work done before he starts four months of research in Mexico.

I'm never surprised at any news I get about Al Zugsmith—not even if he took a trip to the moon and made pictures perched on a camera in outer space. The latest word is that Jack Harris has signed Al to direct a fantasy musical, "Rip Van Winkle in the 21st Century." The theme is on the order of "Around the World in 80 Days" and takes place 40 years hence.

Thirty stars will be featured in cameo parts. Jack Benny, whose role Zugsmith is dressing up a bit, and Bobby Darin who will play the President of the United States have already agreed to be a part of the spectacular which

I asked Vincente Minnelli about his daughter, Liza, and he said her mother, Judy Garland, who is in Paris, is going to meet her in a little village in the Alps where Liza and her schoolmates are spending the summer.

"A funny thing happened recently," said Vincente. "I received a call in from Judy when she was in Rome and she said, 'What do I do now? I can't speak Italian!' I called some friends in Rome who took Judy and Kay Thompson out and showed them the town."

He also told me how pleased Liza was with the article I printed about her being a heroine when her plane was forced back after engine trouble.

Colorado Starts Course On History Of Space

By ED MCLEAN
United Press International

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — History is a study of past events, but University of Colorado historians are making an effort to keep up with the times. They instituted an academic course on the history of space — believed to be the first such course in the nation.

The idea was conceived by Dr. James G. Allen, chairman of the history department at this Rocky Mountain school. He felt there was a need for a better historical understanding of space.

"We are entering the Space Age," Allen said, "and the exploration of space has become the most significant factor in the modern world."

Behind Allen's plan was the idea that if students study the Age of World Discovery—the 15th century—the more recent discoveries of the universe.

Teacher Outlines Events

He pointed out that present-day space adventurers are doing the same sort of thing as Columbus, Magellan and their counterparts.

"Their oceans are our skies and their ships are our rockets and space vehicles," he said.

Allen chose Dr. J. Allen Hynek, former associate director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Harvard, as the course instructor. Hynek came to the campus this summer as a visiting lecturer.

Hynek started the course with an outline of events that led up to the launching of the first earth satellite, Sputnik I, in 1957. He also covered the present space program and predicted space developments, all set against the background of space as the astronomer knows it today.

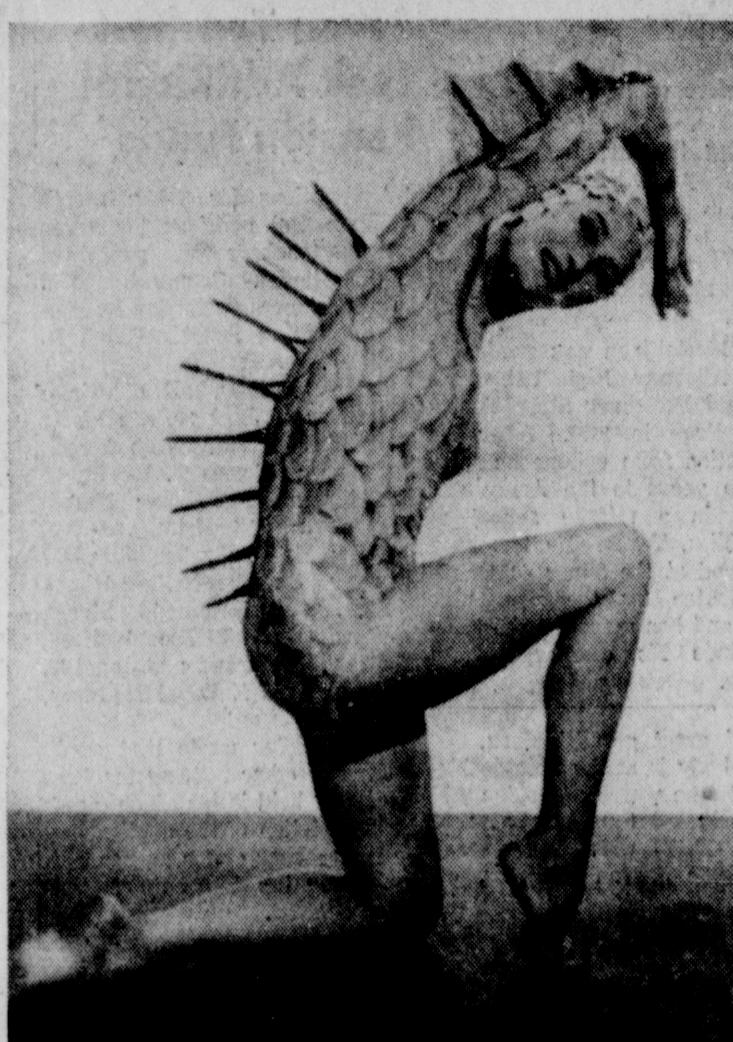

The class didn't have a text book, but Hynek assigned library reading and scheduled visits to the university's observatory for a closer look into outer space. He also took the 40 summer students to a science-fiction movie, but not just for fun. The students were assigned to pick out the picture's scientific errors.

Is Well Trained

"My approach is non-science-fictional, but it almost sounds that way when I talk about the problems that future space travelers must face," said Hynek.

The professor has had plenty of training in his field. Currently secretary of the American Astronomical Society, he helped establish a worldwide network of 12 astrophysical stations to track earth satellites while he was with the Smithsonian Observatory.

In the fall, Hynek will become chairman of the Astronomy Department at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Sam Bass' Train Robbery Loot Still Sought In Texas

ROUND ROCK, Tex. (UPI) — Unclaimed assets of the dissolved gunman's trigger finger when Bass and Co. are being sought in have suffered from writer's natural depositaries in the Central Texas area by the historically minded.

That's Chamber of Commerce talk to describe a favorite Texas treasure hunting target—the train robbery loot of outlaw Sam Bass.

Bass was riddled with bullets in 1878 when he tried to rob a bank in Round Rock. He died without telling what he did with some $65,000 in gold stolen in his biggest express car robbery.

His gang's daring holdups and escapes from a small army of law officers earned Sam Bass and his men the public title of "Bass and Co."

The "company's" main targets were trains operated by Union Pacific, Texas Central and the Texas and Pacific Railroads.

Bass made his reputation as an outlaw at the age of 25 during six months of holdups. He died on his 26th birthday, July 21, 1878.

Most of his loot reportedly was buried in caves — likely in the Central Texas hill country which is dotted by caverns. Half of the caves in Texas have been, at one time or another, considered genuine Sam Bass caves.

Although Bass would not give a hint of where his loot was hidden, a rash of "authentic" maps have appeared over the years. One historian said that if Bass had drawn

Medical Schools Have Trouble Getting Students

By LEROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The business of being a doctor is better today than it ever was—yet medical schools are having trouble getting enough students, medical experts report.

Moreover, hundreds of towns are begging medical societies and foundations to help them get a doctor to locate in their communities. They offer financial help and promise him a lucrative practice. Many a small town doctor nets $25,000 a year, and the profession is about the highest paid in the land.

The doctor shortage, which has been getting worse ever since 1950, became more acute this summer when a crackdown by various medical and hospital associations forced 4,000 unlicensed European and Asiatic internes and residents off hospital staffs.

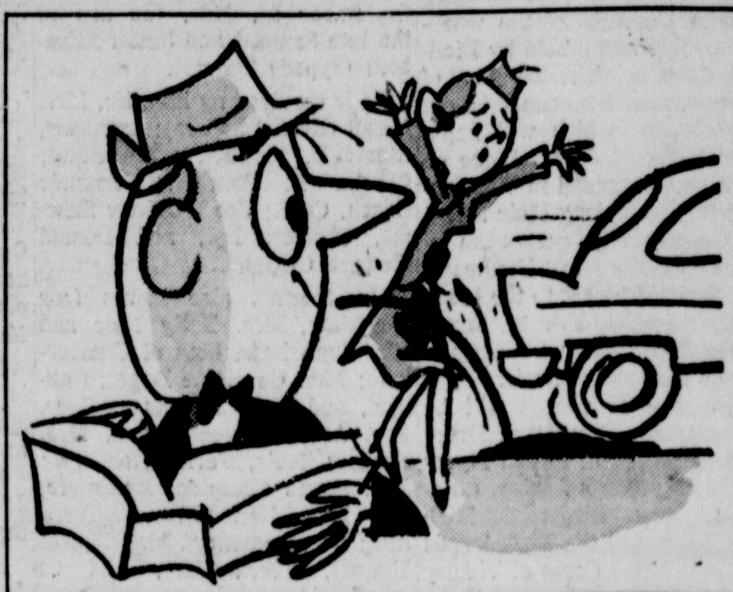

Failed In English

These foreign-trained doctors failed in examinations last spring to show sufficient professional qualifications or knowledge of English to keep their jobs. Another 5,000 foreign-trained doctors passed the examinations.

But the crackdown may keep 1,500 to 3,000 foreign doctors from coming to the United States in the next year. Couple this with the fact that American medical schools are getting one-third fewer applicants for admission than they did in 1956 while the population has gone way up, and the experts said, the doctor shortage assumes alarming proportions. It is made even worse, say the medical society spokesmen, by the fact that the average American goes to see the doctor twice as much as his parents did.

Corporations Show Interest
The American Medical Association alone got just under 1,000 requests last year from communities stant fear is that the doctor shortage will lead to government controlled socialized medicine. They hope to see the scholarship-aided doctor approach, financed by government instead of government employees.

Art And Politics In Red China

It may be true that artistry knows no politics, but it will be hard for many Americans to view dispassionately the opening of the Peking Opera today at Vancouver, British Columbia. Before returning to Red China, the troupe of 100 singers, dancers and acrobats will appear in six other Canadian cities—Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

This cultural penetration of the Western Hemisphere probably would seem innocuous were it not for stepped-up economic and political incursions of the Chinese Reds in Latin America. The latest example is the Cuban-Chinese sugar deal.

Actually, the Peking Opera already has appeared in Latin America. Sol Hurok—the international talent hunter—even signed an agreement with the company to visit the United States. But the State Department denied visas because this country does not recognize the Communist government in China.

Most Westerners readily divorce art from politics, and it may well be that the Chinese troupe does the same. On the other hand, they probably are aware that their government draws no such distinctions. As a party functionary named Fu Chung told the Third Congress of Chinese Writers and Artists in Peking on July 24: "Literary and art workers (will), under party leadership . . . advance at the foremost front of the struggle against imperialism and colonialism."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Badger Game

Physicians, from time to time, write to me, telling me of the badger game of which they suddenly discover themselves victims. Dentists are accused of raping patients, so that a wise dentist keeps his door open for his nurse or secretary to witness the propriety of his conduct. And such persons are not particularly good witnesses because they are hired help.

It is estimated that one in seven physicians is bothered by malpractice charges, using up their time and their means trying to prove that what they did was correct, what they prescribed was proper. Nowadays patients read advertisements and medical news items in the press and make demands on physicians, accusing them of malpractice if they do not obey the advertisement. When I was ill in the hospital, I received an enormous mail from readers advising me how to cure a cancer by everything from prayer to electricity. There are apparently radio stations which give medical advice, some of which can readily kill sick people, but there are thousands who believe that the man on the radio must be truthful or he would not be on the radio!

A physician sent me a clipping on this subject which he cut out of a medical journal, giving neither the name of the publication nor the date. Nevertheless, I quote from it because it contains an extraordinarily good paragraph:

"A physician can be sued if he expresses an unfavorable opinion or a favorable one; if he conceals an error or reveals it; uses a new drug or fails to use one; keeps records or is sloppy about records; discloses a fact about his patient or conceals same—the possibilities are without number."

There ought to be a carefully drawn up code specifying the responsibility of a physician to his patient. I have watched a physician go step-by-step to discover the cause for an unusually large number of white blood cells in a patient. He had to rule out many causes, some of which might have been fatal; some of which could be handled with antibiotics.

As he ruled out each possible cause, he started on another research because the white cell count remained high and there was no apparent reason for it.

Parents can become impatient with such thoroughness, but if they have any common sense they will be grateful that they have a physician who is not afraid to say that there is no obvious cause for the manifest results of a high white cell count. In the end, he will find the cause, but whether he can effect a cure depends upon many factors. This particular patient had once had mononucleosis and this might be an aftermath. But aftermaths of illnesses can be quite a nuisance and even serious. Thus, parents would be wise to get a competent physician, with a good, local reputation and to trust him. He will not know everything, because there is too much to know, but a good man, with a hospital connection, with access to a pathology laboratory will know how to discover whatever is available.

When I had a heart attack, I was bothered by countless friends to try this wonder of the ages or that brilliant man. I declined. A competent heart man, connected with a first rate hospital, had been recommended and that was sufficient. These great men are a pain in the neck sometimes. When a patient is very sick, the temperament of doctor and patient is very important. If they do not jibe, the doctor should drop the patient and recommend somebody else because the psychological effect of physician on patient is very important. They must be in absolute rapport. The same is true of nurses. A bothersome biddy can upset a patient no end; a friendly, kindly but rigid nurse can save a life.

Doctors and nurses should not be sued by patients who do not know what it is all about nor should they be tried by juries which cannot even understand the terminology. Just as lawyers are investigated by Bar Associations which make recommendations of disbarment for misfeasance such as bribery, so should physicians who are accused appear before boards of medical associations. Perhaps one day there will be enough physicians who are specialists in forensic medicine, that is, both law and medicine, for the physicians to do their own policing.

Now, How To Get It Out?

"Responsible Government" Needed In America

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A different type of national political convention assembles here this week under circumstances that reflect seriously on the prestige of the United States throughout the world.

At a time of crisis, at a time when America boasts of her democratic institutions, the fact is that, among persons abroad schooled in the science of government, the term "responsible government" is not applied to the system in effect in this country. It is more often described as "irresponsible government."

Thus, in the elections two years ago, the American people chose the Democratic Party to control and rule the Congress of the United States. Since its members in the House and Senate comprise a majority of virtually two thirds and since a few additional votes are usually available from the opposite party, even the veto of a President can be overridden. Why then cannot the major planks of the platform of the Democratic Party be put into effect by law — or rather why haven't they been enacted in the last two years?

The truth is that, in actual practice, the Democratic Party does not command a majority because it is divided on such issues as "civil rights" and on many economic questions. There is no such thing as party discipline. A member of Congress can desert his own party and suffer no penalty — not even the loss of a committed chairmanship, which his party can at will withdraw from him.

Theoretically, as Congress re-assembles this week after a recess taken primarily to allow members of both parties to attend their national political conventions, there is every opportunity to pass the most important provisions of the Democratic Party platform. If there is economic discontent or dissatisfaction among the American people with anything that can be cured by law, the party which has been in control of Congress can still control both houses of Congress.

This week, as Congress re-assembles, there is a novel situation which serves to re-emphasize the irresponsibility of the present system. Lyndon Johnson, nominee of the Democratic Party for the Vice Presidency of the United States, is also the Majority Leader of the Senate. His sponsor at the Democratic National Convention at Los Angeles, Sam Rayburn, is still the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Yet, for the action or inaction at the session beginning this week, there is no way at present by which the American Democratic Party can still control both houses of Congress.

For the last two years is responsible for failure to provide the remedy.

If the members of the party in power do not face up to their obligations, the people presumably have a right to choose another party at the polls. But in virtually all the Southern states there is no active or organized Republican Party which puts up candidates for Congress. This, too, impresses foreign observers as a weakness.

The Democratic Party, moreover, needs to win something less than a majority of the seats in the Northern states and yet, by adding its Southern Democrats, can still control both houses of Congress.

This week, as Congress re-assembles, there is a novel situation which serves to re-emphasize the irresponsibility of the present system. Lyndon Johnson, nominee of the Democratic Party for the Vice Presidency of the United States, is also the Majority Leader of the Senate. His sponsor at the Democratic National Convention at Los Angeles, Sam Rayburn, is still the Speaker of the House of Representatives. Yet, for the action or inaction at the session beginning this week, there is no way at present by which the American

Pirates Whip Cubs, 7-1, For 6th Straight Victory

Mizell Hurls Five-Hitter, Bags 9th Win

Drabowsky Driven To Cover As Bucs Score Five In 3d

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell, pitching his fourth complete game in a row for the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, stopped the Chicago Cubs 7-1 Tuesday night on a five-hitter.

Three double plays and two fine catches by centerfielder Bill Virdon gave Mizell the needed support as the Pirates won their sixth consecutive game.

Mizell's bid for a third straight shutout was spoiled in the fifth when Al Heist's double and Ron Santo's single scored the only Chicago runs. Mizell had pitched 30 1/3 scoreless innings until then.

The loss was charged to the Cubs' starting pitcher, Moe Drabowsky, now 2-1 for the season.

He was bombarded from the mound in the third when the Pirates scored five runs.

Street Repairs Are Begun By Town

LONACONING—Mayor Robert D. Peebles and Councilmen Robert M. Grove, Benjamin H. Evans Jr., James Berry and Benjamin Zarger have accepted the Western Maryland Railway Company plan for the Town of Lonaconing to use the depot lot as a town parking lot. The action was taken at the Monday council meeting at the Lonaconing town hall.

A petition from East Main Street residents requested that Georges Creek be dredged to have the water course move the sewerage from the creek bed. Councilman Evans was authorized to spend up to $500 to have the Georges Creek and its tributaries in the community dredged as needed after Commissioner Evans makes a check of Lonaconing water.

State Police notified the mayor and council that the transmitter for the Lonaconing police cruiser is to be renewed by November 1, 1963, in compliance with FCC at the cost of $400.

Councilman Berry will represent the mayor and council at the important meeting of the annual Christmas Treat committee on Wednesday, August 10, at 7 p.m. at Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars home.

A representative of the Lonaconing City Band made inquiry on a carnival deposit made to the town of Lonaconing.

Street problems were discussed and it was decided to start repairs to Roosevelt Avenue. Guard railing posts are being bought from James Phillips, Lonaconing, to start work on Robbin Street and High Street soon.

The mayor and council has given orders that air rifles and rifles are not permitted to be used in the city limits. Orders are to confiscate any rifles being used in the town of Lonaconing. Reports of boys shooting in the town limits were received.

An audit is being prepared for report to the mayor and council. A second meeting of August will be Monday, August 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the council chambers.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to me during my bereavement, the death of my beloved husband, Charles L. Schindler. Market Advances Again; Coppers, Oils In Spotlight

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market rolled ahead to its fourth successive advance Tuesday with copper and oil shares stealing the thunder from the recently popular aircrafts and electronics.

The heavyweights—steels, autos and chemicals—were the victims of neglect. Their closing prices favored a generally irregular pattern.

Buyers appeared to favor issues which in recent session have dropped to so-called bargain levels. Oils, office equipments and some metals fall into this category.

Kennecott paced the copper section with a gain of 3 1/4. Magna followed with a rise of 2 1/4. Phelps Dodge, GAF, and Inspiration Consolidated 1 1/2.

The strength in copper issues was attributed to the Congo situation where developments could create world shortages of the red metal and enable domestic producers to work off their inventories.

From the standpoint of the averages, the day's gains were only slight to moderate. Industrials picked up 0.90 to 615.69, while the rails rose 0.57 to 135.24 to score a wider percentage gain on the day and the rails advanced 0.63 to 93.62.

Expert Favors Ordinances For Fringe Benefits

Is Disturbed By Charter Proposal

The director of the University of Maryland's Municipal Technical Advisory Service is disturbed by proposals to put sick-leave, vacations and paid holidays for workers of the City of Cumberland in the form of a charter amendment.

The opinion was expressed by Milton B. Millon, director of the unit, in a letter to City Solicitor William R. Carscadden. The letter was read and ordered filed at Monday's Council meeting.

Mr. Millon said he will complete a study and recommendations for sick-leave, paid holidays and other fringe benefits in the next 60 to 90 days.

He acknowledged receipt of a copy of the proposed charter amendment for vacations and sick-leave for the Police and Fire Departments and said it will be a help to have the charter amendment on hand in making the study asked by the city, but added:

"One thing disturbs me, and that is the proposal to put sick-leave, vacation and paid holidays in the form of a charter amendment. It seems to me that these are matters which properly belong in the Ordinances of the City of Cumberland."

"To place these matters in the Charter puts undue restriction on the Mayor and Council and really places matters of fringe benefits in the hands of the city employees. There is no doubt in my mind that the police and firemen could easily obtain petitions to force a referendum on fringe benefits at any time they so desire. This I do not think is good."

The subject of fringe benefits properly belongs in the hands of the Mayor and Council and should not be forced to a plebiscite whenever the city employees do not like what the Mayor and Council is doing. After all city employees are employees of the Mayor and Council and they should not always have hanging over their heads the "Sword of Damocles."

"As a practical matter I think the city employees have nothing to fear in terms of the Mayor and Council reducing fringe benefits. I think one could demonstrate throughout the country that Mayors and Councils do not restrict fringe benefits but rather in recent years have been moving to expand these benefits."

"I think it would be to the advantage of the city employee to have fringe benefit provisions in the form of ordinances rather than charter amendments, since it will be much easier for the Council to expand these benefits through simple ordinance rather than the elaborate procedure for charter amendments."

"I also think that this can set a dangerous precedent toward placing more and more ordinances in the form of Charter amendments and thus taking much of the decision making power away from the Council and placing it subject to referendum."

Hearing Today At Keyser On Parsons Strike

PARSONS, W. Va. (AP) — The strike-plagued Kingsford Charcoal Co., newest and second largest industry in Parsons, went to court Tuesday in Keyser seeking protection from disturbances on the picket lines.

Company attorneys asked for a temporary injunction from Circuit Judge Ernest See in Keyser to limit the number of picketing strikers.

Judge See said a hearing on the petition will be held Wednesday afternoon.

State Police have reported two incidents of violence since the strike started last Wednesday. The strikers are members of the International Hod Carriers Union, AFL-CIO.

Kingsford employs about 113 men. The company, with main offices in Iron Mountain, Mich., came into the state last year on a fanfare of publicity generated by the State Industrial and Publicity Commission.

The cause of the dispute? A sign on the picket line said: "Unfair labor practices."

There's been no official figure of the number of workers on strike.

"Well over half," said one citizen who asked that his name not be used. "But the plant is operating."

Employers voted 74-39 for representation by the Hod Carriers in a plant election last month held by the National Labor Relations Board. But there's been no contract signed.

Contract negotiations are to begin later this month.

Garrett County Fair Begins

Garrett County Agent James McHenry, left, is shown checking in two purebred Hampshire ram lambs owned by Tom and Stewart Stanton of Grantsville as the annual Garrett County Fair begins

Army Planning Exhibit During Cumberland Fair

"This Is The Army," an official U.S. Army exhibit showing how the Army is helping to solve the complex problem of providing an effective atomic-age national defense, will be displayed at the Greater Cumberland

Fair next week at Fairgo.

M. Sgt. V. F. Smith, local recruiter, said the purpose of the exhibit, prepared by the Army's chief of information, is to inform the public on the speed and immensity of modern war and to emphasize the caliber and character of personnel required to man the modern Army establishment.

Spotlighted within the exhibit will be the Army's new one-shot portable flame thrower. The Army's new helmet radio and armored vest are also introduced in the exhibit along with the new M-14 rifle.

A variety of missile models will give visitors an up-to-date view of the Army's missile arsenal. Featured, too, is the soldier's new "beast of burden" — the mechanical mule — newest member of the Army's tactical vehicle family.

Other aspects of the exhibit will show the status of today's active Army establishment, the Reserve and National Guard forces available for rapid reinforcement of the active Army, and the supporting strength of allied forces which have been assisted in varying forms by the Army's Assistance Advisory Groups and Missions.

The exhibit also explains the deployment of Army forces overseas, and an electronic question and answer section presents little known facts about the Army.

Futuristic weapons predictions of the 1970s are shown in one area of the exhibit, and a color motion picture will show Strategic Army Corps forces with their new weapons and equipment in action during field exercises.

Army information specialists will attend the exhibit to answer questions.

Escapee Gives Up
After Cool, Wet
Night In Hiding

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — Calvin E. Hott had a choice between his old prison bunk and a cool wet night on the ground and it didn't take him long to make up his mind which he preferred.

Hott, 24, under 1-to-10 year sentence from Mineral County for breaking and entering, escaped Sunday from the West Virginia Penitentiary honor camp.

But soon afterwards it began to rain and after spending a wet night, he decided to forego his freedom. He stopped at the home of Mrs. Gladys Davitz and asked that prison officials be notified so he could be returned to prison.

"I don't anticipate any trouble until the leaves start falling this fall," he said.

In fact, things are in such good shape, Buckingham added, that all of the state's 32 fire observation towers have been closed down. He said such towers as the ones at Church Creek and Long Hill could be reopened at a moment's notice.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Friendship International Airport recorded a total of 8.18 inches of rain during July, 4.74 inches above the normal amount for the month.

"Well over half," said one citizen who asked that his name not be used. "But the plant is operating."

Employers voted 74-39 for representation by the Hod Carriers in a plant election last month held by the National Labor Relations Board. But there's been no contract signed.

Most departments of the City of Cumberland stayed within their budgets during the fiscal year which ended June 30, according to a report prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

The report shows that all but three departments managed to live within their appropriations.

Finishing in the red were the City Hall Annex fund, over $471.01; Engineering, $428.65, and the Fire Department, $347.29.

Other departments turned back unexpended funds which ranged from about $20 to as high as $56,400.

Here is the way major departments finished:

Constitution Park, with a budget of $26,200, turned back $2,177.51.

Fund Is Unused

The Special Projects fund of $68,700, which financed the city's share of the cost of repaving streets over the past year, had $2,352.10 unspent when the year ended.

Another $8,440.11 was left from Mrs. Nancy Van Fossen, Frostburg; Mrs. Roy Shryock, Town Creek Road, and Lewis Walker, Cumberland.

Today will be children's day with judging events also slated. Scheduled are judging of indoor exhibits; boys judging of poultry, 10:30 a. m.; senior and boys day judging, 1:30 to 3 p. m.; pet show, 3 o'clock to 4 p. m.; 4-H and FFA dairy judging, 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.; pony judging, 6 o'clock to 7:30 p. m.; horse show and mounted games; and local talent contest at 7:30.

The doctors had finished their testimony and the committee was hearing from Blue Cross representatives when Dr. Firon broke in at a remark implying it was entirely up to the physicians to see that hospital insurance rates were kept to minimum increases.

"Hospitals need money and Blue Cross is a wonderful source," he said.

He said benefits and their limits of payments have been greatly expanded since hospitalization insurance was originated.

The first film will be an 18-minute movie on fire prevention and fire hazards to give viewers a better understanding of destructive fires. The color movie will have sound, said Chief Emerick.

Sen. John Clarence North (D-Talbot), committee chairman, commended the faculty "for its forthright courage in assuming an obviously unpleasant position" by making the poll public last week.

The third film which shows mouth-to-mouth means of artificial respiration will be shown through courtesy of Holland Rennells president of the Potomac Valley Television.

"It wouldn't hurt," replied Kellogg.

One of the main abuses of hospitalization insurance confessed by the doctors, either for their own or their patients' convenience, was having them admitted under some other guise for diagnosis.

Blue Cross does not provide for such coverage.

Council To Act
